

JUST IN TIME FOR EASTER!—The First Presbyterian Church is sporting a new stained glass window in the north end of its sanctuary. The window replaces some temporary glass and greatly enhances the atmosphere of the sanctuary. Frankye Cartner (left) and Suzy Pomeroy, owners and operators of Stained Glass Junction, created the design and strived to match the colors and patterns of the other existing windows. The center medallion window of Jesus has been in place for many years but the surrounding glass cracked several years ago. The new window has been the dream of many people in the congregation and was supported by many gifts in memory of loved ones. Come and enjoy the beauty of this wonderful addition. The Easter worship service begins at 10:30 am. The morning message will be "Get Ready to Laugh". The sanctuary choir will also sing. The Presbyterian Church is located at the corner of Sycamore and Kentucky in downtown Gridley. Also pictured is Rev. Steve Weber.
